

Abstract of the disclosure:

Sub a. Disclosed is a door jamb having a pair of tubular side jambs and a tubular head jamb, the side jambs and the head jamb each having at least a pair of elements, an outer low maintenance element, an inner structural element, and means for receiving a portion of each of said out and inner elements to secure such elements together in selected positions to provide a desired depth of the door jamb.

09332709, 09332709